

DEPARTMENT OF
LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES
College of Arts and Sciences

Propel Global Understanding with a BA in French, German, or Spanish

BROADEN your horizons

Learn ADVANCED COMMUNICATION and cultural skills

GAIN SKILLS for any profession

	FIRST YEAR	SECOND YEAR	THIRD YEAR	FOURTH YEAR+
Your Courses	If you have studied French, German, or Spanish previously take the placement exam . If you have no prior language experience, take 1713 and 1813 .	Build listening, reading, and writing abilities, and begin literary and cultural analysis in 2000-level classes .	Take a 3000-level course on grammar, advanced composition, literary analysis, and specialized professional language courses on-campus or abroad.	Participate in seminars exploring the rich culture and civilization. Undertake a capstone project or engage in other research initiatives.
Your Experience	Practice language in pairs and small groups. Homework reinforces this work and provides regular feedback. Begin planning for study abroad.	Develop speaking and writing skills, expand your knowledge of cinema and literature . Apply for study abroad.	Make connections with language communities in the region or abroad. Use your language skills in real-world situations and for academic research.	Develop research skills. Present your work in poster sessions or at academic conferences . Use your language skills in internships.
Your Community	Connect with clubs and other organizations focused on language and culture on campus.	Deepen your involvement with clubs and the community. Explore study abroad options.	Seek opportunities for community engagement in the region or abroad.	Pursue internships or use your language for research projects for a second major.
Your Career Readiness	Learn communication and cultural competency. Participate in conversations about your life and the world around you.	Apply for Bailey, Humphreys and scholarships administered by the Department of Languages and Literatures. Consider a Wentz project .	Hone your ability to communicate complex ideas in your language, to place ideas, words, people, and objects in cultural and historical context.	Conduct research and acquire advanced knowledge of culture and literature.

YOU WILL LEARN

How to read, write, speak, and listen in the language you study, how the past and present shape customs, beliefs, among contemporary speakers, how to deal with people from different cultures.

WHAT IS NEXT

Combine French, German, or Spanish with any other major or minor.

Your Personalized Path Use your language skills in any profession: Law, Medicine, Business, Engineering, Education, TESOL, Agriculture and more

Learn more about building your custom path, visit:
languages.okstate.edu

